

Thesis/Dissertation Write-Up Guideline

Please find attached the required pages (Chapter 1, end of chapter, Beginning of Next Chapter ... References and Appendices) of an undergraduate Thesis, which was corrected by me. Please follow the same style for finishing the write-up of your thesis. However, the page numbers should be inserted at the bottom centre.

Chapter 1: Introduction

Define the relevant topic, its importance etc. in 3/4 lines.

Say what other people did on the topic of research in the past (Literature survey). Then stop up to which point the research is standing right now.

Then go to discuss the scope of research, that is, what can be done/what is remaining to be done and what you are doing.

In the introduction you include short paragraphs on the above topics by citing the references, then go on to focus on our special topic. Discuss the theory and formulate the model and discuss the simulation methods. Show and discuss the results thoroughly (important for the presentation and highlighting your contribution). You should validate your results by comparing your findings with any available similar results (if any). First check, if not available, compare your findings with other existing alternate methods/techniques.

---

Then follow the style of Chapter 1 of the attached sample thesis.

Chapter 2 will discuss the existing theory; the details of what others have already done.

Chapter 3 will describe the proposed theoretical/practical model.

Chapter 4 will describe the simulation/implementation of the model along with the techniques or procedures that have been followed.

Chapter 5 will describe the results with output and their explanation, why they are so, are they realistic? This chapter will also validate your findings and/or comparison with similar other works and highlight the novelty of your work.

Chapter 6 will describe "Conclusions and Suggestions for Future Work". Refer to the Table of Contents please.

Chapter 7 will include the References.

Finally, include the Appendices.

Special Note: Chapter 1 of your work should contain all the Headings of Chapter 1 of the example Thesis...

{Note the conclusions of each chapter: it will tell what this chapter has described followed by what it will discuss in the next chapter. The first paragraph of the next chapter will say what was described in the last chapter and what is described in this chapter.} ** This approach of writing will repeat from first to last of the thesis.

Finish writing following the above style. Finalize it from your side and then send to me the doc file as well as the pdf file. I'll read the pdf and if needs to be modified/corrected or re-arranged I'll mark it in the doc file and send you back for revision.

Once everything is okay, we'll go for printing.

NB: The number of chapters may vary depending on the contents of your thesis/dissertation.
